Land Acknowledgement

We acknowledge that we meet here today in Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq People. This territory and those that reside here share a duty to respect and uphold the "Treaties of Peace and Friendship" signed between the Mi'kmaq and the British Crown in 1726. For Time Immemorial, the Mi'kmaq have honored and protected this land, enriching it with language, art, music, spirituality, history, and culture. This acknowledgment reminds us of our responsibilities to our relationships and the ancestral lands on which we all learn, share, and live. We are all Treaty People.
